1797 list shows contributors to NYC Lutheran churches

By Bob Greiner

In July 1784, soon after the end of the Revolutionary War, the German Lutherans of New York City formed a new congregation. The organization was known by the corporate name of The united German Lutheran Churches in the City of Newyork [sic]. The congregation was the union of the only two Lutheran churches that existed in the city before the war. Trinity Church was established 1664, originally as a Dutch-speaking congregation. Their church building was destroyed at the beginning of the war. Christ (or Swamp) Church was founded in 1750. During the war services were conducted there for the Hessian troops that occupied the city. The new congregation worshiped in this building.

The Reverend John Christoph Kunze, D.D. was called to be the first pastor. At the first meeting of the congregation the following trustees were elected.

George Smelzel	John Baltus Dash	John Gesner
Henry Arcularius	Alexander Finck	Philip Oswald
Jacob Rossler	Dedrick Heyer	Christian Shultz.

The following elders and deacons were also elected.

M. Menold	John Bessinger	John Kayser
Oliver Mildeberger	John Sanders	Adam Kayser
Frederick Meyer

The congregation decided to buy a new organ in 1797. Subscriptions were accepted from the congregation to fund it. In 1802, after the organ had been installed, the trustees recorded the names of the donors in the official church minutes. The list represents a cross-section of Germans in New York City at the end of the 18th century. A quick Google search for some of these names shows that many of them were directly involved in the Revolution and leading citizens after the war. The amount of their contributions is an indication of the relative wealth and status of the members.

The list of names was recorded in a volume entitled Journal and Proceedings of the Corporation of The united German Lutheran Churches in the City of Newyork, No. 2. The volume has been microfilmed by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and is available on film number 1902071.

FRAKTUR FORUM

By Corinne Earnest

Early Fleischer certificate instructive

A long-time correspondent, Diane Preiser, asked about the name, FLEISCHER, on fraktur¹. The Free Library of Philadelphia has a Taufschein (birth and baptism certificate) made for a son of Johannes FLEISCHER and his wife whose name was not recorded. The FLEISCHERs' son was born about seven o'clock in the evening on June 11, 1780, in Reading, Pennsylvania. The sponsors at his baptism were Johanes [sic] and Eva FLEISCHER. Although the son and wife are not named on this certificate, more is known about this family. Research conducted by Diane Preiser shows that the son was John FLEISCHER (died 1865), whose mother was Elisabeth, daughter of Samuel SCHULTZ. John married Anna SHAFFNER, who was born October 7, 1787 or 1789, in Lykens Valley, Dauphin County, Pennsylvania.

It is unusual that the mother's and child's names remained unrecorded on the above certificate, but it is also instructive. The sponsors, possibly the child's grandparents, may have been immigrants. If so, they were accustomed to details concerning birth and baptism being recorded in church records alone, rather than on separate sheets that were decorated as personal documents for the family to keep. In Europe, the practice of sponsors giving a token, decorated document to the family developed in some (although by no means all) German-speaking regions about the same time Americans of German heritage made Taufscheine (the plural form of Taufschein). The equivalent of a Taufschein in Europe was the Taufzedel (primarily made in the Canton of Bern in Switzerland) and the Taufpatenbrief made primarily in Alsace, a German-speaking area of today's France. Early examples of these types of European art are disappointing to genealogists, for they often give the names of the sponsors, the date of baptism, and little other biographical data such as locations and the names of the parents and the child. It seems the text on John FLEISCHER's Taufschein was made in the tradition of European record keeping more than in the fashion of the fully developed Taufschein. Fortunately, the more genealogically rich Taufschein became popular among Americans of German heritage.

A Taufschein in a private collection was made for Martin FLEISHER, son of the above-mentioned John FLEISCHER. On this certificate, John's wife is listed as Anna SCOFNER. Martin was born May 26, 1825 in Upper Paxton Township, Dauphin County. He was baptized (no date given) by Henrich KING. Martin's parents served as sponsors.

The most well-known person connected with fraktur having the surname, FLEISCHER, is Johann Jacob FLEISCHER (1761-1845), a Reading schoolmaster who made fraktur from 1798 to 1803. According to Diane Preiser, Johann Jacob FLEISCHER was the son of immigrant Johannes FLEISCHER (1719-87) and his wife Eva Margaretha. They may have been the sponsors listed on the above Taufschein made for the unnamed son of Johannes FLEISCHER. Immigrant Johannes FLEISCHER and two of his sons, Andreas FLEISCHER (1770-1842) and fraktur artist, Jacob, became schoolmasters. Johannes and Jacob FLEISCHER taught in Reading. Andreas taught at Muddy Creek Church in northern Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, from 1810 to 1834.

Although we continue to record collections of fraktur, only a handful of other fraktur having the name FLEISCHER are currently known. A religious text made for George FLEISCHER was made by fraktur artist, Jacob FLEISCHER, on April 8, 1802. This example is pictured by Scott T. Swank in Arts of the Pennsylvania Germans (1983).

On October 8, 2004, Pook & Pook Auctions in Downingtown sold a choral book that belonged to Andrs. [Andreas] FLEISCHER in 1811. The name, Jonathan BEUMAN, also appears in the choral book. The artist who penned the bookplate was Wilhelm Antonius FABER (active circa 1790-1818). FABER also made an undated memorial for Catharina FLEISCHER. In a private collection, the memorial includes no date nor biographical details about Catharina.

The current location is unknown of a Taufschein that mentions Jacob and Hanna FLEISCHER as sponsors at the baptism of Hanna SCHMIDT. Hanna SCHMIDT was the daughter of Johannes and Margareta SCHMIDT. Hanna was born in Schaefferstown, Heidelberg Township, Dauphin [today's Lebanon] County. She was born on February 12, 1781 and baptized by Eman. SCHULTZ, but no date of baptism was given. According to this certificate, SCHULTZ confirmed Hanna in 1796.

The Lebanon County Historical Society in Lebanon has a Taufschein made for Anna BICKER, daughter of Jacob and Sarah (HUYERT?) BICKER. Anna was born in Berks County, Pennsylvania, on July 28, 1819 and baptized August 29, 1819 by Pastor MEIER. The only sponsor at Anna's baptism was Catharina FLEISCHER.

In the first volume of The Printed Birth and Baptismal Certificates of the German Americans, Klaus Stopp lists data from a Taufschein made for Margaretha VONNIEDA, daughter of Henrich and Catharine (FLEISCHER) VONNIEDA. Margaretha was born in Cocalico Township, Lancaster County, on February 16, 1828. No other information from this Taufschein is available.

In his fourth volume, Stopp pictures a Taufschein made for Cassia Rebecca KISSINGER, daughter of Adam and Sarah (LENGEL) KISSINGER. Cassia Rebecca was born April 27, 1857 in Bern Township, Berks County. She was baptized December 27, 1857 by R.S. WAGNER. The only sponsor at Cassia Rebecca's baptism was Rebecca FLEISCHER. According to this certificate, Sarah LENGEL was the daughter of Peter and Maria LENGEL. A Taufschein in a private collection was made for Maria Anna ERNST, daughter of Georg and Elizabeth (FLEISCHER) ERNST. Maria Anna was born May 16, 1818 in Toboyne Township, Perry County, Pennsylvania. She was baptized by Pastor HEIMS on June 26, 1818. Maria Anna's parents sponsored her baptism.

The current location is unknown of a Taufschein made for Elisabeth REX, daughter of Abraham and Maria (FLECHSER [sic]) REX. Elisabeth was born about six o'clock in the morning on September 12, 1803 in Heidelberg Township, Northampton County, Pennsylvania. She was baptized by Gottlieb SCHRÖDER on October 6, 1803. The sponsors at Elisabeth's baptism were Gottlieb and Elisabeth SCHRÖDER. Martin BRECHALL (circa 1757-1831), the artist who made this Taufschein, may have meant the surname on this example to read FLEXER or FLETCHER, names also found on fraktur.

If you have names you wish me to research on fraktur, please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Corinne Earnest, PO Box 1132, Clayton DE 19938. There is no charge for members of MAGS.
